Travel News: 18 Reasons to Travel in August 2017

The buzziest happenings in the world of travel this month.

The Adelphi Opens in Saratoga Springs

The Adelphi Hotel has been a mainstay of Saratoga Springs, Upstate New York's spa city and horse racing mecca, since 1877. This month the historic property unveils a multimillion-dollar restoration that melds elements of the original property with modern touches. Past guests will recognize the revived grand staircase upon entry. The 32 guestrooms have all been reconfigured and updated with a timeless royal blue and taupe color palette and damask wallpaper. Housed in a 1,200-square-foot glass-walled conservatory, The Blue Hen serves artisan-driven, seasonal cuisine in a greenhouse-like setting. Morrissey's, the hotel's 12-seat, speakeasy-inspired bar, is the ideal place for a post-dinner tipple. Later this fall, the hotel will complete an 8,000-square-foot spa.
