Fall is officially here, and with it comes the urge to explore new horizons and distant vistas. Which direction should your GPS lead you? Here, we round up the best places to visit in America and around the world this season.

10 Saratoga Springs, New York

The Adelphi Hotel

This town less than 200 miles from Manhattan has been a resort destination since the 19th century thanks to its mineral springs and thoroughbred horse races, but it still offers luxuries, now that the historic Adelphi Hotel has been renovated.
